

Planning

Planning Works has prepared comprehensive, neighborhood and corridor plans for more than 100 cities and counties across the country. We start each project with a fresh perspective, relying on local leaders and stakeholders to define goals and make key policy decisions. Our perspective reflects a practical, realistic approach.

- Our outreach strategy is designed to provide ongoing, meaningful opportunities for participation by targeting specific stakeholder groups and minimizing attendance barriers - we “go” to the community by reaching out to specific organizations, neighborhoods, youth and young adults, senior and minority populations. Our implementation program will achieve measurable progress through prioritization of strategies and linkage of the Plan to the annual budgetary and CIP processes. We help you design the strategies by recommending only the most relevant and applicable components of planning and development regulation tools that address the issues facing your community.
